1. OUR FRIENDLY LITTLE FLIRTY-FISHY was smiling sweetly at all the handsome waiters as usual, when one in particular apparently took a fancy to her and decided to bring her her breakfast in bed one morning! Since we were a little short of money and hadn't been tipping very much, I encouraged our little Flirty-Fishy to show him a little extra affection, a little pat on the hand or squeeze of the arm or peck on the cheek as his reward, showing appreciation worth a great deal more than money!

2. SO ON THIS PARTICULAR MORNING as she was ushering him to the door she lightly put her arm around him to give him a little squeeze while deciding whether to also add a peck on the cheek, when he suddenly solved the problem for her by grabbing her eagerly and starting to deep-kiss her while fervently rubbing his hardening you-know-what against her softening you-know-what!

3. A LITTLE FLUSTERED BY THIS SURPRISE ATTACK, she simply yielded for a moment, then began to gently try to get him to cease and desist by sweetly pushing him from her, saying, "No, no!", and pointing to her cheek instead. But to this he replied, "Yes, yes!", and continued to persist in trying to kiss her on the mouth, while she continued to present her cheek. This however didn't seem to interest him, so he finally left without further ado.

4. RETURNING WITH BREAKFAST AGAIN THE NEXT MORNING he again tried to kiss her goodbye on the mouth when leaving, but she firmly "turned the other cheek" instead, which he dutifully kissed with obvious disappointment and left.

5. HOWEVER, THE NEXT DAY as our little Flirty-Fish was getting a little impatient with his persistence she failed to even present him a cheek, considering he'd already proved himself a little too cheeky, so she apparently decided to teach him a lesson!

6. BUT THIS SUDDEN CHANGE of tactics from deep kiss and ardent embrace to no kiss and no embrace within 48 hours evidently backfired, as it seemed to deeply hurt our sensitive Aquarian waiter's tender feelings to such an extent that it so cooled the relationship that it caused our little Flirty-Fishy to relent and feel very sorry for him.

7. SO SHE SQUIRMED UNCOMFORTABLY in the new chilly atmosphere of cold water out of her depth, being warned by the fisherman that it's always safer for the bait to stall, postpone and say, "Not now--maybe later", or "Wait", or "I'll see", so as to keep the fish interested but not lose him entirely, but also so as not to yield too easily and get gobbled up too soon!

8. HE MIGHT NOT APPRECIATE WHAT COMES TOO EASY, or even endanger the bait. But in the case of a flat "No!" and sending him away with a cold shoulder and nothing at all he could even become angered and turn against you into an unpleasant disillusioned and perhaps even dangerous enemy--at least uncooperative, unhelpful and definitely unfriendly!

9. HAVING GIVEN SOME FISH A LITTLE COME-HITHER SMILING ENCOURAGEMENT to begin with, including some rather enticing squeezes, pats and pecks, enough to lead them on to obviously be seeking more, it rather offends their pride at having their prowess frustrated so suddenly by such a premature complete change of attitude!

10. IF YOU WANT TO COOL THEM DOWN it's better to gradually withdraw the bait, having lured them as far as you want them to go, and not jerk it suddenly out of the water, leaving them in angered frustration after having led them so far, in which case they're more apt to blame it on you than on themselves--and they could be right!

11. AGAIN, IT'S LIKE THE STRIP-TEASER whose disrobing act promises everything, but finally after having come down to her last titbit she gives you absolutely nothing at all! This can be very aggravating and certainly does not win friends or influence people in the right direction, but only torments and tortures them and then leaves them hanging!

12. AN ANGRY, FRUSTRATED, UNFAIRLY DEPRIVED FISH can sometimes turn on you ferociously if you lead him on too far and then at the last moment you finally deny him the last big bite they all are always waiting for!

13. IN THE DANGEROUS BUSINESS OF THIS KIND OF FISHING YOU HAD BETTER BE PREPARED TO GO ALL THE WAY if necessary and give them what you've been dangling in front of them all the time and let them swallow the bait--hook, line and sinker--giving your all for the Cause, rather than to totally antagonize them and make a permanent bitter and furious enemy!

14. NO MATTER WHAT YOU DO OR SAY, he'll feel it was all your fault, blame it all on you and hold it against you forever, as a man's pride doesn't take this sort of last moment denial very gracefully, whether husband, wife, playmate, lover or flirted-fish!

15. NONE OF US SEEM TO BE ABLE TO TAKE THIS LAST DITCH DENIAL of what we've been digging for all the time, but are utterly thwarted in attempting to attain it, especially having been led on so far with such promising looks, friendly gestures, affectionate touches, revealing enticements and enticing words!

16. IF YOU TURN YOUR FISH INTO AN

ENEMY instead of catching him as a permanent friend, an ally, it's probably your fault for teasing and enticing him to the point of a hardening erection and then suddenly and coldly jerking the bait out of his reach just when he thinks he's got it within his grasp!

17. YOU MUST LEARN HOW TO USE YOUR BAIT with a great deal more wisdom than that, and if you're not willing to lose a little now and then, you'd better get out of the bait business! Every fisherman knows he can't win 'em all and he's got to lose some in order to at least catch a few!

18. SO IF YOU'RE NOT PREPARED TO GO THE LIMIT when the occasion demands it and any other action would cause more damage than good instead of being willing to risk a little damage to do a lot of good, you'd better quit fishing! It can be a very trying and dangerous sport at times, and sometimes even a little discouraging, to say the least!

19. SOMETIMES YOU MAY HAVE TO GIVE YOUR ALL and even lose the bait, only to find to your sorrow that he's another one of those big ones that got away! As we warned you before, fishing can be a hazardous game, particularly for your little bait, and it's bound to cost you something sooner or later if you're going to catch the big ones!

20. FISHING ALSO REQUIRES A LOT OF PATIENCE, especially with the bigger ones. They may swallow your bait and be really hooked and on your line but unless you play them very gently and give them lots of line and leeway until their resistance tires, you may find you're unable to land them if you try to reel them in too fast.

21. THEY'LL FIGHT YOU, snap the line and get away if you're not very careful! Lovingly, gently, tenderly and quietly play them slowly in, until you can reach out with your net and pop them into your creel! It's not just fishermen's talk that it's the biggest ones that often get away!--It's true!

22. THE BIGGER THEY COME THE HARDER THEY FIGHT, and if you're not very patient you can lose them altogether! But it's also sometimes true that the bigger they come the harder they fall, and where they want to fall is usually right on top of you! But if you start fighting it, you may soon find yourself without any fish at all!

23. EVERY BAIT MUST BE PREPARED TO BE SWALLOWED ENTIRELY if necessary, in order to get the hook in good and deep, yet hope to still be rescued by the fisherman if possible. Sometimes you have to put a lot in to get some out, so don't be afraid to put them in if you have to! Just be sure you do it with a lot of prayer, faith and real trust in God that you won't suffer any undesirable consequences!

24. FISHING CAN BE DANGEROUS, unless you really trust the Lord and are led by Him! However, of course, it has its brighter side, for a fish that's swallowed the bait, hook and all, is usually more firmly hooked and more solidly on the line than those that are just nibbling around!

25. SO GETTING OFTEN SWALLOWED IS WHAT THIS KIND OF FISHING IS ALL ABOUT! For it's the last-ditch ultimate in our kind of fishing, and you may find your little joy-maker is that last little ditch that they really want to dig the most! So you'd better be prepared to let them dig it, or you may find they'll lose interest altogether!

26. BUT ONCE THEY'VE REALLY DUG YOU, "THE BORROWER IS SERVANT TO THE LENDER" (Pr 22:7) and they are forever in your debt! You've given them something they can never repay and for which they should feel forever grateful and be eternally in your debt with a feeling of such obligation to you that they'll be willing to do almost anything for you if you've really got 'em on God's line--even if you had to use the flesh to hook 'em!

27. THEY KNOW FROM NOW ON THEY REALLY OWE YOU SOMETHING and that you've given them all you can possibly give them, and that there is nothing they can possibly do to repay you other than giving themselves to you in return! Kings and Queens are particularly like this, and this kind of bait is often one of the things they need the most. If you can give it to them, it may win them forever!

28. BUT ONCE HOOKED IN THIS WAY, YOU CAN'T JUST LOVE 'EM AND LEAVE 'EM! You're probably going to have to give them more on occasion, as the situation may warrant, in order to keep them on the line! Caught fish have to be fed to keep them alive, so you may have to let them keep digging a little now and then for something they know they need, if you're going to be able to use them for what you know you need, without letting them lose interest.

29. FOR ONCE THEY'VE DEVELOPED AN APPETITE FOR YOUR KIND OF BAIT, THEY MAY GET THE HABIT and it won't be just a one-time thing! You may be able to stall them a little and ward them off a while, but "hope finally unrewarded maketh the heart sick" (Pr 13:12), so you may have to keep letting them have another bite now and then in order to keep their interest alive!

30. YOU'RE NOT PLAYING GAMES, AND BEING FLIRTY-FISH BAIT IS SERIOUS BUSINESS! If you're not in it to really catch fish and keep them and use them and make them useful to the Fisherman, then you'd better stay out of it and pursue some less hazardous occupation! But if you're dead in earnest about it, you can find it one of the most thrilling and exciting and fascinating and rewarding of all occupations! As Jesus said to some fishermen who understood Him,

31. "COME, FOLLOW ME, AND I WILL MAKE YOU FISHERS OF MEN! And immediately they forsook all and followed Him!" If you're not willing from the beginning to forsake your all and follow Him all the way and become a real fisher of men, then you might as well go back to your knitting, because this thing can get pretty hairy when you finally get them down to the nitty-gritty!

32. SO IF YOU CAN'T TAKE IT, DON'T TRY IT! Like a lot of fishing, it's often an all-night operation or an all-weekend outing to make an inning! Or he may want to take off with you forever, and you've got to learn how to keep steering him back into the Fisherman's net or luring him back to the trap or keeping him firmly hooked on the line if he's ever going to do anyone else any good besides you!

33. IF YOU'RE A HOOKER FOR JESUS, DON'T FORGET WHO YOU'RE HOOKING FOR and don't forget to constantly point your hook in His direction! --Then they'll know why you're doing it and Who you're doing it for and why you're willing to give your all and sacrifice yourself that they may live!

34. YOU'D BETTER LET THEM UNDERSTAND FROM THE BEGINNING that the reason you love them so much that you're willing to give them everything is because God loves them so much and expects them to give Him everything in return!

35. WE'RE NOT IN THE BUSINESS OF GIVING AWAY FREE BAIT and free bites with no strings attached! The fishing business costs something, and we expect to get some good catches in return if we're going to make it pay! Otherwise you're just throwing it away! If you lose too much bait without catching any in return, you may soon find yourself bankrupt and out of business!

36. FISHING CAN BE FUN, BUT FUN DOESN'T PAY THE BILLS! You've got to catch a few to make the fun pay for itself! So don't do it for nothing! We're not in it for the money but we are in it for the men! If we don't catch some pretty good fish as a result, including everything they've got and can do for us, you're just wasting your time and your tail!

37. IF YOU'RE NOT WILLING TO LET HIM HAVE A PIECE OF YOUR TAIL, you'd better not swish it around so close to his sharp teeth, or you may find he's dug in before you know it! If you're not prepared to let them have a piece of that pretty little flirty tail in the end, after all the little tickles and nibbles you've been giving him, then you'd better start out with a resounding swat of a strong right fin on that nibbler's snout at the very first nibble in order to shoo him away for good before he goes so far neither one of you can stop!

38. IF THAT'S THE WAY YOU FEEL ABOUT IT, YOU'D BETTER NOT EVEN GIVE HIM THE FIRST NIBBLE! In fact, you'd better not get into the nibbling business at all! Being Flirty-Fish bait is not for you unless you're prepared to get penetrated by his own little gig once in a while!--And this is exactly what happened to our Flirty Little Fish this morning!

39. SHE'D LED THIS POOR FISH ON SO FAR with the encouragement of the fisherman and had led him so far into the trap that she herself couldn't back out without losing him even as a friend or possibly making an enemy out of him. So when she saw how deeply hurt he was at her sudden withdrawal of former favors, she felt so sorry for him she quickly repented and now felt compelled to go overboard in the opposite direction to try to win him back!

40. AS HE WAITED ON OUR TABLE the next night and studiously tried to avoid her gaze or touch and went about his waiting in a very cold business-like manner with hardly a word, she had to really turn on the charm to try to woo this cagey Aquarian back into her cage!--And let me tell you, as one Aquarian to another, once we all-loving and hyper-sensitive Aquarians are offended, we're not easy to re-woo without an extra-heavy dose of woo pitched straight and hard!

41. SO SHE FINALLY HAD TO THROW DISCRETION TO THE WINDS, eat his humble pie, grab his hand, give him a heavy tip, and roll those big Flirty-Fishy eyes, giving him a big Flirty-Fishy grin and ask him why he was so sad, knowing full well already why he was so sad, but trying to help him see she was sorry!

42. HE DIDN'T PICK UP THE FIRST PASS but he really began to melt when she said she was sorry he was so sad, and that she was sad because he was so sad, and that she missed his beautiful smile because it was like the sunrise, she said as best she could in his language.

43. IMMEDIATELY THE SUN ROSE AND HE BEGAN TO SMILE, and something else soon began to rise as well as she kissed him goodnight and wiggled her cute little tail against him as she invited him to meet us later for dancing at a small club nearby! At first he proudly refused, but after thinking it over, this humbling invitation must have done the trick!

44. FOR HE WAS NO SOONER OFF WORK THAN HE WAS THERE LIKE A SHOT, smiling happily and obviously feeling that things were looking up! And it wasn't long until things looked like they were obviously feeling up as they began to dance together!

45. AFTER A FEW DRINKS AND SEVERAL REAL SLOW CLOSE ONES, soft lights, soft music and soft feminine flesh began to harden his intention for an indention while the Fisherman sat on the bank at the table and prayed for a catch, the only kind of a catch I knew would ensure our return to his good graces!

46. WITH A LITTLE STIFF-RUBBING, GENTLE BREAST-MASSAGE AND NECK-NIBBLING, they were both soon in the mood for it! So I invited him back to our hotel for the night. Before leaving the table the Fisherman quipped that our Flirty little Fish was well able to keep two men happy to give him the green light for the go, go, go, so he'd know I had no objection to his swallowing the bait!

47. I TOLD HIM IT WAS HIS NIGHT, encouraged them to dance really together as much as possible, and while she wasn't holding both of our hands, she held one of his and massaged his rod under the table! By this time he was really ready for it and barely able to drive up the street close beside her as she was rubbing it all the way!

48. AS HE DROVE US BACK TO OUR HOTEL HE KEPT HIS HAND ON HER LEG and she tried to keep him under control while I watched her behind. These Latin lovers don't beat around the bush!--They jump right into it with their pogo stick at the ready! He said he couldn't stay that night, probably because of some hotel rule, but would be sure to bring her her breakfast in the morning, implying a good deal more as he asked what time she'd like it!

49. BY THIS TIME SHE KNEW WHAT IT MEANT WITH A CAPTIAL "I", for as they kissed goodbye standing at the car he almost couldn't wait as he was working it so hard against her she was afraid he was going to do it right there, while I left them alone and strolled toward the lobby as though I didn't know what was going on--or perhaps I should say, more as though I did know what was going on!

50. HE PUT HIS HAND ON HERS AND HER HAND ON HIS and began an ardent sexual massage, insistently trying to make her promise she'd make a definite date for breakfast in the morning, which was apparently to include a healthy appetiser! The more noncommittal she was, the more desperate he became and the more ardently he massaged, until she finally had to break away with a final kiss and a hurried "Good-night!" as she ran back toward the hotel!

51. WHEN WE GOT BACK TO OUR ROOM SHE'D ALREADY BEGUN TO WORRY about the next morning, and had about decided she didn't want to be a Flirty-Fish any more, as she massaged me to sleep! During a restless night I reassured her she didn't have to do anything she didn't want to do, and that the Lord would lead her how to handle the situation.

52. BUT I DID CAUTION HER THAT HE HAD BEEN DEEPLY HURT, and I didn't think anything short of fulfilling his desires would restore our friendship. We also agreed that he'd evidently had some heartbreak. I also got during the night that: "He thinks nobody loves him any more. He's a little cynical and bitter and thought there was no more love until you showed him love."

53. SHOW HIM THE LOVE OF GOD! Show him God's love is better than the love of women! You're the first to show him love since he's been hurt. He's been very hurt. He's a poor, hurt little lamb, and he's come to you for help. Are you willing to help him?

54. FUCKING IS NOTHING! WHAT'S A LITTLE FUCK BETWEEN FRIENDS IF HE NEEDS IT?--NOTHING! It helps him to be satisfied.--And your touch is very important: Stroke his face, his hair. Show him you really care, show him God's love. He's the most sad and the most needy, so God sends him to us to help. Most of all let him know you really love him.

55. TELL HIM, "I LOVE YOU BECAUSE GOD LOVES YOU, and Jesus loves you and Mother Mary loves you and my husband loves you! We have the love of God and we give it to you! Do you love Jesus?" I told her how to say these sentences in his language, and we practiced saying them over and over again together:

56. "YOU ARE SAD, BUT GOD WANTS YOU TO BE HAPPY! I want to make you happy because God loves you and wants you to be happy. Jesus gives me love in my heart for you. My husband gives me to you because he loves you too!" I told her to be sure and not forget that it was very important to keep giving God the credit over and over. She said:

57. "BUT I DON'T WANT TO FRATERNIZE WITH EVERY TOM, DICK AND HARRY THAT COMES ALONG! I'm a queen and he's a waiter and just after feminine flesh! He could get it somewhere else, many other places!" But I told her, "He can't get the love of God anywhere else, and he can feel your love and that you really love him, and he knows you're different. And I got the verse,

58. "INASMUCH AS YE HAVE DONE IT UNTO THE LEAST OF THESE MY BRETHREN, YE HAVE DONE IT UNTO ME." (Mt 25:45.)--Even unto the lowliest! So we went back to sleep, agreeing that if we had to, we'd do it for the Lord and a poor little lonesome brother who needed our loving help!

59. WE HAD NO SOONER RUNG FOR

BREAKFAST in the morning than he was up and waiting in more ways than one! He set down the tray and looked at our little Flirty Fish at the open bedroom door where I was supposedly sleeping, and he seemed a little uncertain as to what our mood might be.

60. SHE GAVE HIM A LITTLE RE-ASSURING KISS and took him by the hand as they started walking toward the still-open front door of the apartment through which he'd entered with the tray. As they began to kiss he pushed it shut and passionately began to make love to her as they stood there opening up everything else, and finally winding up on the living room couch for the final touchdown and explosion!

61. AS THEY SAT DOWN ON THE COUCH, with some difficulty she stopped him long enough to say to him in his own language: "My husband knows." He looked a little startled, but she said, "But he loves you too." She at first indicated she was reluctant to let him go all the way, but he was insistent and nothing else seemed to satisfy, so she finally yielded. As he got up hurriedly to go back to work he thanked her. But she said slowly in her broken foreign tongue, "Just a moment. Sit down, I want to tell you something."--And she repeated the phrases she had memorised for the occasion:

62. "I LOVE YOU BECAUSE GOD LOVES YOU, and Jesus Christ loves you and Mary loves you and my husband David loves you. We have the love of God and we give it to you to make you happy. Do you understand?" He smiled at her little sermon and thanked her as she kissed him good-bye.

63. MEANWHILE, I HAD DRUNK NEARLY A WHOLE BOTTLE OF WINE TO BOLSTER MY OWN COURAGE to endure the ordeal, and I gratefully welcomed her back into my own arms when he left, and she made love to me as passionately as ever before! We exploded supremely and sighed with relief that it was all over--we hope! Of course, we don't yet know what the morning will bring and whether this was the end or just the beginning!--Only time and the Lord will tell!

64. BUT SUCH ARE THE DANGEROUS ADVENTURES OF A FLIRTY-FISH! Are you sure you want to be one? You'd better make sure before you begin, or you may find yourself in deep water when it's too late!

65. P.S. FOOTNOTE: Later today at the dinner table our dear little wandering waiter was a little embarrassed, but seemed very happy and cheerfully restored to our friendship again. All we know is we went the limit to show him the love of God, and so the rest is up to the Lord!

66. WHAT A WAY TO WITNESS!--Are you sure you want to be a Flirty Fish?--You can!--With God's help! --GBY! ILY! Be a Happy Hooker for Jesus!--Amen?
