

scream when once we left the store, he acted out how the angry woman was screaming and pointing her finger at me!

7. HE SOON FORGOT ALL ABOUT IT WHEN WE PLAYED FOR A WHILE AT THE PARK PLAYGROUND, and there we met a little 4 year old English girl.

Davidito seemed real happy at the opportunity to witness, but when he tried to talk to her, it would come out in a mixture of Spanish and English.

8. ALTHOUGH HE TRIED TO EXPRESS HIMSELF, SAYING, "JESUS TE ANA" and "God is Love" and a few of his verses, he ended up just grabbing her around the neck in a tight squeeze and giving her a big kiss right on the mouth!

9. WE'VE NOTICED AGAIN THAT, PROBABLY AS A JEALOUS REACTION TO NEW BABY BIMBI being in the house, Davidito has begun to act more babyish when around new daddy Dave. He's been going doo-doo in his pants (maybe on purpose) and only wants DAVE to change his pants for him!

10. ONE NIGHT ALFRED DISCOVERED THAT HIS WATCH WAS MISSING after he'd seen Davidito playing with it earlier. Every evening when Alfred undresses, he puts his belt and the things from his pockets on the bed, and Davidito puts all the things inside Alfred's wound-up belt. (He's always lining things up, organising and building with his hands!) So we knew when Alfred's watch was missing that Dito must've known where it was. Alfred said,

11. "DAVIDITO COME HERE! YOU'D BETTER PRAY YOU FIND THAT WATCH!" So Davidito squeezed his eyes shut and shouted with all his might, "T-suh" (Jesus) "Nah" (Watch) "Af" (Alfred). Then, more desperately than ever, "Flah!" (Please!) God bless him! And we did find the watch, but we didn't know he could pray so desperately all on his own!

12. I DON'T THINK I WAS EVER MORE CONVICTED THAN ONE DAY WHEN DAVIDITO AWOKE FROM HIS NAP very, very fussy, whining and crying. I kept trying to settle him back to sleep, but he absolutely refused, but could only fuss and cry. He'd been very fussy all day long and my patience was worn thin, when he crawled out of bed after I'd warned him not to several times. --He just wouldn't listen.

13. SO I GAVE HIM A BIG SWAT, AND HE SUDDENLY VOMITED REAL BIG all over me and the floor! Poor, poor thing! Can you imagine?--He was feeling really sick and I hadn't even discerned or considered the idea that he was crying for some reason!

14. SO I RUSHED HIM INTO THE BATHROOM AND ENCOURAGED HIM TO GO AHEAD AND THROW UP into the toilet. It was the first time he'd ever vomited and he was really scared and alarmed about it: I've learned that it seems to help and encourage small, sick children when you tell them it's good to spit it up.--It's God's way to clean out a sick, sour tummy.

15. LITTLE CHILDREN ARE USUALLY MORE AFRAID OF THE RESULTS OF THEIR THROWING UP than the way they actually feel, and lots of times they reflect on the adult's reaction. It's always good news to hear it will all be over with soon, and that they'll feel better afterwards, thank the Lord! It's important not to act threatened or offended by the mess they've made, but rather encourage them that it's good to go ahead and throw up so they'll feel better right away.

16. DAVIDITO SETTLED BACK DOWN IN HIS BED AND SLEPT FOR A LONG TIME THAT DAY, and felt so good when he got up that he was even able to take a nice walk outside in the evening. But what a day that was!

17. I FELT SO UNMERCIFUL, BAD AND CONVICTED FOR MY IMPULSIVE, UNPRAYERFUL BEHAVIOUR that I'm ashamed to admit it to you now!
