the curb. Dad then warned us girls to move our purses away from the street to the other side, inside the sidewalk. This we did as we walked by the boy who kept looking down until we passed by, then he quickly got on his bike & left! Daddy said he had a warning that the boy was a "purse-snatcher" & in that position right by the sidewalk he could have quickly grabbed our purses. Jumped on his bike & taken off & we would have never caught him! Isn't that a good tip?

4. ONE OTHER EVENING AS THE FAMILY WAS WATCHING TV, A VARIETY SHOW CAME ON WITH SOME SUPER-IMPOSED PICTURES on the screen of a mermaid sitting at the bottom of the sea, so that what was on TV looked as if the people were walking & singing & dancing underwater! Maria was prompting us to explain to David & Davida exactly what was happening & why it looked like people were singing underwater, but Dad said, "Oh, honey, let them leave some things up to their fascination & imagination, that's half the fun, fantasizing in your own mind what you think is going on! You don't have to explain absolutely everything to children!" Of course we usually do explain everything we know how to the

1. AS THE FAMILY JOINED TOGETHER FOR OPENING PRAYER ON COMMUNION DAY, Davidito read to us several pages from his Hamlyn's Children's Bible in Colour & participated with us in the Lord's Supper after songs, prayer & fellowship. Dad always includes the children in our Communion services by acknowledging their attentiveness, asking them a few questions, or singing their song requests about the bread & wine.

2. DITO SAT UP & LISTENED ATTENTIVELY ALL THROUGH DAD'S BEAUTIFUL TALK & after having watched Maria nurse Tech! in her arms, David then wanted to sit in her lap & eventually scooted himself so far down that he was lying in her arms in the same position as Tech! David said regarding Dad's talk, "I'm going to be a real good boy so that Davida, who copies everything I do, will watch me & be good too!" And during the Communion at the dinner table he dipped his bread into the wine & said, "Look Daddy, I'm making a sop!"
