Sexual Honesty!

Illustrated by Jacques Elan
& Eman Artist.
Edited by Jacques Elan.

I told him last night:

I'm too proud! I'm afraid of what you're going to think!

You said every time you go to Timothy's room you get so hot you want to take your clothes off, but you're ashamed to. You're not honest and you're ashamed to, that's pride.

That's so stupid! — I think maybe that's one reason they think I'm so sexy, because I just do what I feel like doing without worrying about what people think!

I could have sat here and thought:

If I started petting her now, she'll think I'm very carnal, very, fleshy and "what a nasty old man..."

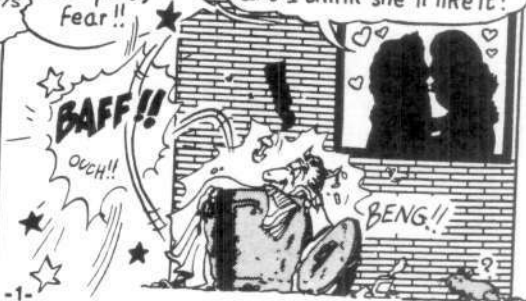

I think the Devil tests me a lot...

Oh! you nasty old man, you're always wanting sex... you never think about anything but Sex!!!

I think it's partly pride and partly fear!!

Well, I love her and I want to make love to her, and I think she'll like it!

It was the tree of knowledge, intellectuality, that started all the trouble. They weren't ashamed until they got on the Devil's side and fell, and had wicked minds!

It's all the Devil's business making you ashamed of sex, making you ashamed of being natural! — Ashamed of nudity!

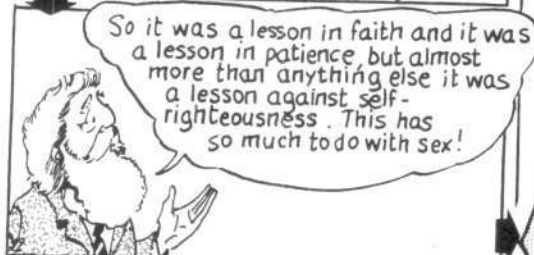

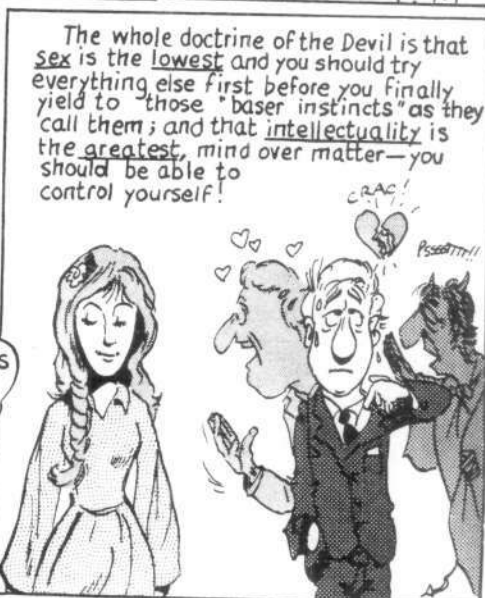

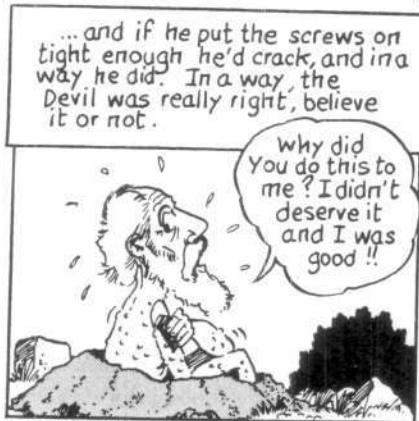

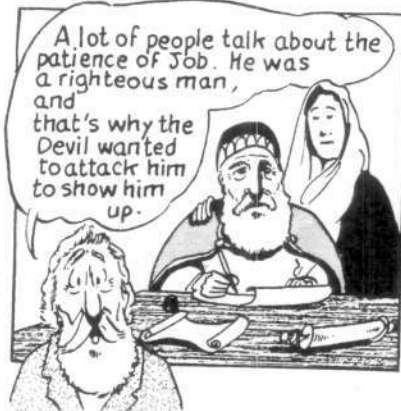

You just have to forget any kind of pride and just be natural and do what you feel like doing, what comes naturally!

The Devil has really got the World brainwashed! He's even got the World brainwashed to the point, where his kind of righteousness, what the World thinks is righteousness, is just the opposite of God's ideas of righteousness! Isn't that sad?

Honesty really is righteousness to be honest and to do what you feel like doing—of course as long as it's right—but to do something which is perfectly all right and perfectly legitimate in the eyes of God when you want to do it. — Like sex!

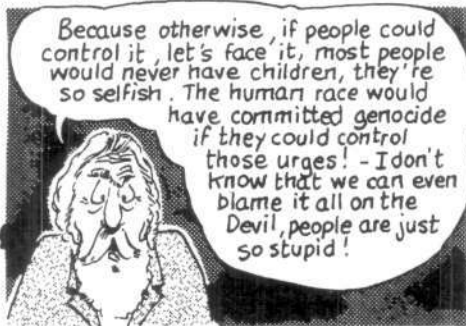

God made those so-called baser instincts so strong that they are virtually uncontrollable!!!!

Because otherwise, if people could control it, let's face it, most people would never have children, they're so selfish. The human race would have committed genocide if they could control those urges! - I don't know that we can even blame it all on the Devil, people are just so stupid!

Now they're using science, doing everything in their power to stop births without controlling the sexual urge, sex itself!

They have managed to control reproduction so they can get out of having to so-called "suffer the consequences" as they call it!

The Devil's got the World so screwed up, it's pitiful!!

If God made it that way, how can it be wrong? And yet man says with his doctrines of devils:

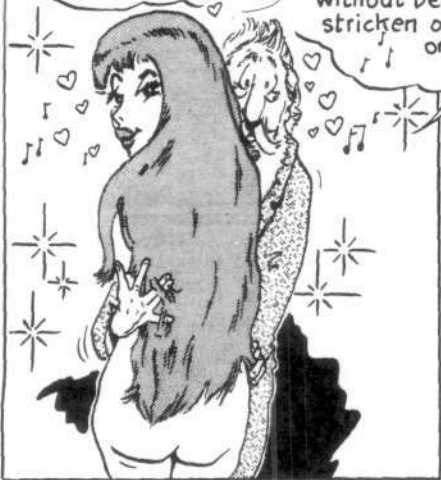

It's a baser instinct, it's a lower urge, you should control it with your mind and you should have greater self-control, it's bad, sex is evil!...

Here it's again building up the worship of yourself and the worship of man in direct contradiction to God's natural laws.

So if your mental attitude is right and your righteousness is the righteousness of God and you're looking at it with the right attitude knowing that, for example, sex is God-created. He expects you to enjoy it, you're with someone who enjoys it and you're not doing a thing wrong at all, you're just fulfilling God's laws, His natural laws, His emotional laws, you can enjoy it without compunction, without being conscience-stricken or self-condemned or feeling guilty.

--All the things that little kids just do naturally before they're educated otherwise!

But this is sort of a self-condemnation from which I think a lot of people have to be almost re-educated, brainwashed, indoctrinated, change their whole wiring, get re-wired by the Holy Spirit in this, because it's been drummed into us ever since we can remember, that it's "wrong"!

tsk! tsk! Shame on you, running around naked!

Of course there are differences in personalities, just like the signs of the Zodiac, and certain signs the intellect rules more than other signs. But I'll tell you one thing, those signs where intellect rules, and they have so much self-discipline, self control and mind over matter they are inclined and tempted to be the victims of the greatest sin of all, pride and self-righteousness!

Whereas the one who is confessing his need and asking for it and getting it is more normal, natural and more righteous than the one who's pretending he doesn't need it, doesn't have to have it, can do without it and looks down on the others who do!

The Lord makes a difference between the carnal and the spiritual, but He's not making it in the sense...

They really sort of exalt themselves above other species who are so low and so nasty they have to have sex all the time.

...that everything that's carnal and everything that's fleshly is evil. He's just trying to point out that you must differentiate between the two and that there's a time to be spiritual and there's a time to be carnal, if you understand what I mean. There's a time for everything, in other words!

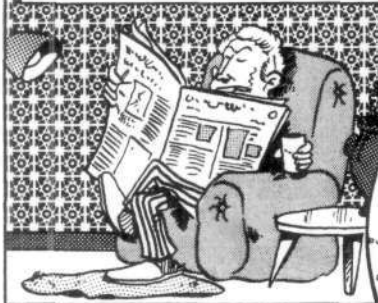

All those years, particularly as a young teenager and all that, I had so much self-control I didn't have much fun!

And all those girls that had so much self-control -- when I finally did get around to it, I don't think they had very much fun either and I certainly didn't have much fun with them.

They expect you to have self-control at the age when you need sex most and want it and God made you to desire it the most!

The sad part about it is, by the time a man is 25 and unmarried he is an old bachelor and very hard to change.

And you girls, by the time you're in your upper 20's, you are an old maid!

Later...

Later...

You'll find him hard to live with because he's been used to living alone so long, selfishly and having his own way.

-- & you have lived alone so long that it's a very difficult thing to marry then because you're not young enough to adapt to each other.

—So the System has just ruined you because of its customs and its traditions!

You get so intellectual and so smart that you can't enjoy anything, because you think too much and you analyse too much. Whereas when you're young, "Except ye become as a little child you cannot even enter the kingdom of God." By the time you've grown old, you've got set ideas and it's very hard for the Lord Himself to overcome those things.

It's a miracle of God that He overcomes them at all! —So let go & enjoy yourself!
